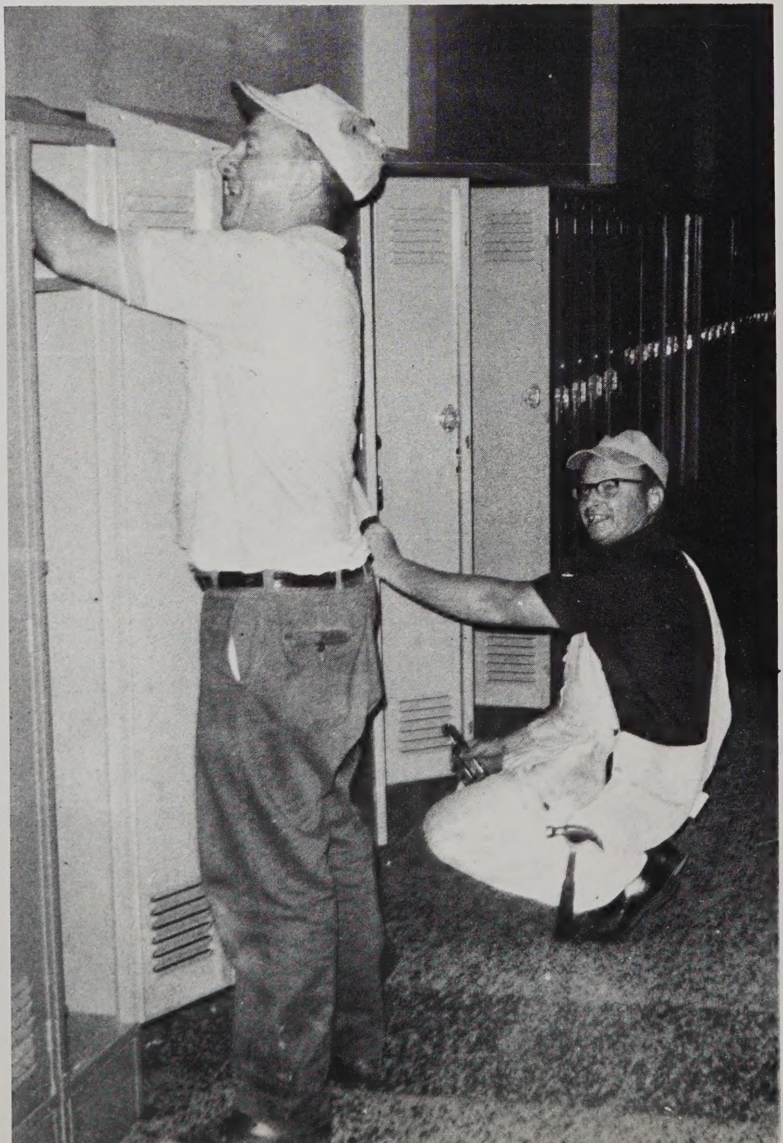
Renovation Objective Was Over-all Improvement

Tractors pull trees out of the west lawn to improve TeeJay's outward appearance.

To make room for the expanding library, workmen remove lockers.



The auditorium, during TeeJay's renovation, looks like an iron jungle.

The modernization of the stage demands skilled workers.

Workers industriously improve the library by replacing book shelves.

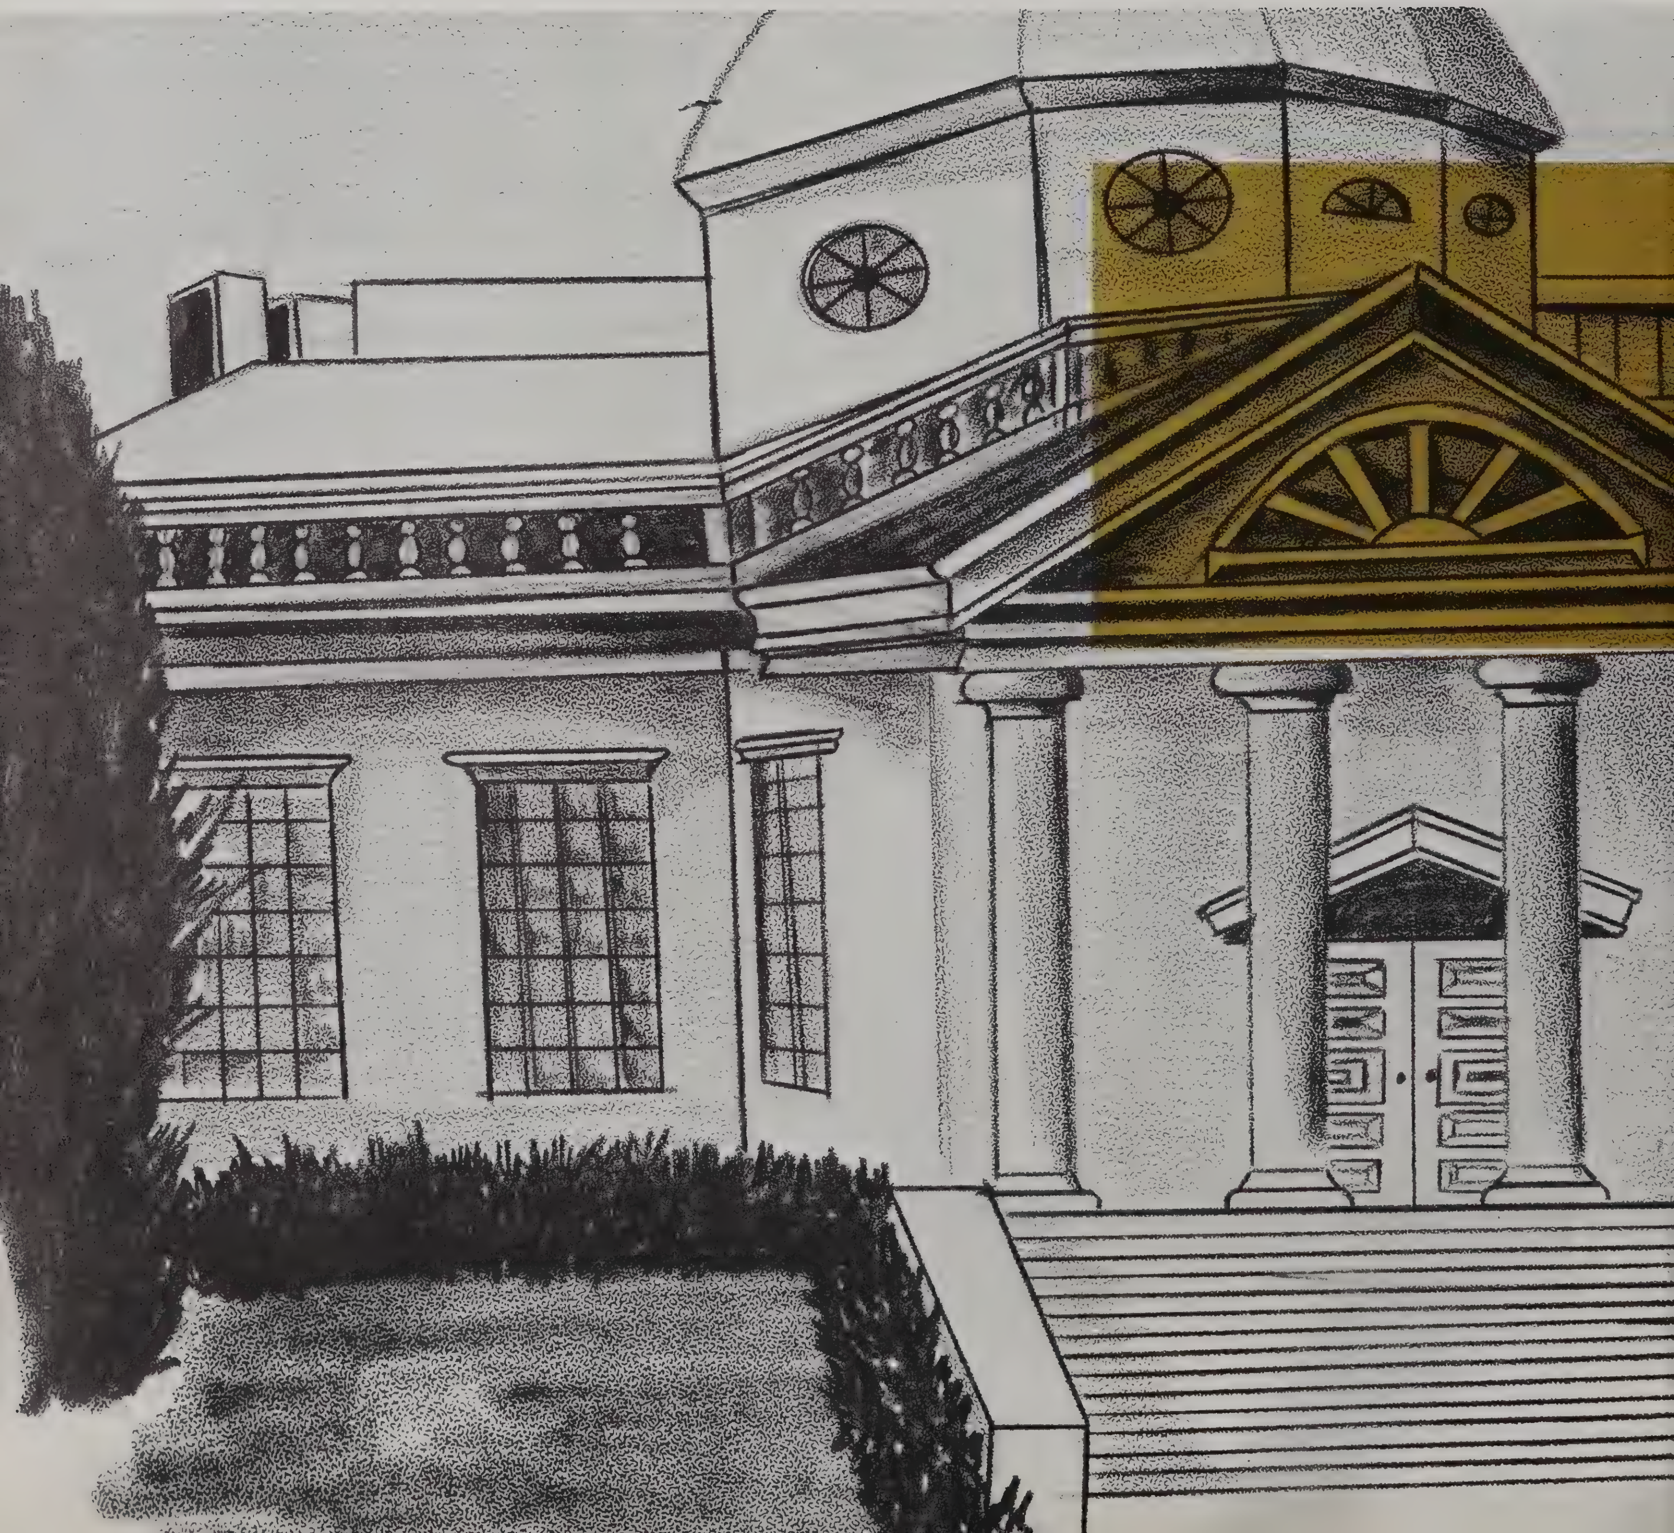
ADMINISTRATION



Thomas Jefferson's home, Monticello, stands because all its parts are interdependent. Thomas Jefferson High School is built along the same principle, but also adds central authority in the faculty, the dome of our educational edifice.

W. W. BROCK, JR., Principal

The man behind the scenes of TeeJay's renovation—directing, planning, suggesting, and accomplishing—was Mr. Brock. This three-year renovation plan was added to his other numerous duties as principal of Thomas Jefferson.

In addition to this extra responsibility, Mr. Brock met his routine demands. Conferring with students and teachers, supporting extra curricular activities, or leading an assembly, Mr. Brock was always found cheerful and eager to help.

Administration

Filling a vacancy for assistant principal, Mr. Cabell Heyward assumed charge of TeeJay's IBM-computed reports and transcripts; he also supervised the building and ground maintenance. Among his other varied duties, he disciplined both Juniors and Seniors when the occasion arose.

The constant flow of people in the office demanded much of Mr. Russell Norment's time and patience. Besides checking attendance and approving announcements, he crammed his office with recalcitrant Freshmen and Sophomores and demanding Key Clubbers. As the Key Club sponsor, he was deeply involved with all their projects.

C. RUSSELL NORMENT, Assistant Principal

H. I. WILLETT, Superintendent
Richmond Public Schools

In an effort to resolve common problems, Dr. Willett met with an advisory committee of students who collected problems in school and brought them back to be discussed. He hoped to find solutions for student-Administration problems and vandalism.

This attempt to improve the school system was a fitting climax to Dr. Willett's years as Superintendent of the Richmond Public Schools. He resigned with the intention of teaching in college.

CABELL C. HEYWARD, Assistant Principal

Mr. Dahl Found Work in His First Guiding Year Interesting

With a rearrangement of personnel, the Guidance Department began the 1968-1969 school session. Last year's freshman advisor, Mrs. Brumble, was promoted to head of the department, filling the vacancy left by the retirement of Mrs. Bennett. Mr. Dahl, formerly a school community coordinator for the Richmond Public School System, took the position of freshman and sophomore advisor.

The Guidance Department worked not only with the students at Thomas Jefferson but also with the pupils who attended the junior high schools which "feed" Thomas Jefferson. Mrs. Brumble helped the different schools coordinate their courses to assure that the jump from junior high to senior high school would be as smooth as possible for the students.

The Guidance Department holds a summit meeting while the candid camera of the Monticello looks on.

MISS MILDRED BRAME, Counselor.

MRS. KATHERINE T. BRUMBLE, Head of Guidance Department, Sponsor Student Participation and Cadet Corps.

ROBERT DAHL, Counselor.

MISS VASHTI HAMMETT, Counselor.

MRS. MARTHA S. HOWELL, Counselor, Sponsor The Jeffersonian Business Staff.

MRS. SIBYL S. JENNINGS, Counselor.

MRS. ROSA LEE FORD, Secretary Guidance Department.

MRS. BARBARA W. GARBER, Secretary.

MRS. EVELYN S. SWIFT, Records Secretary.

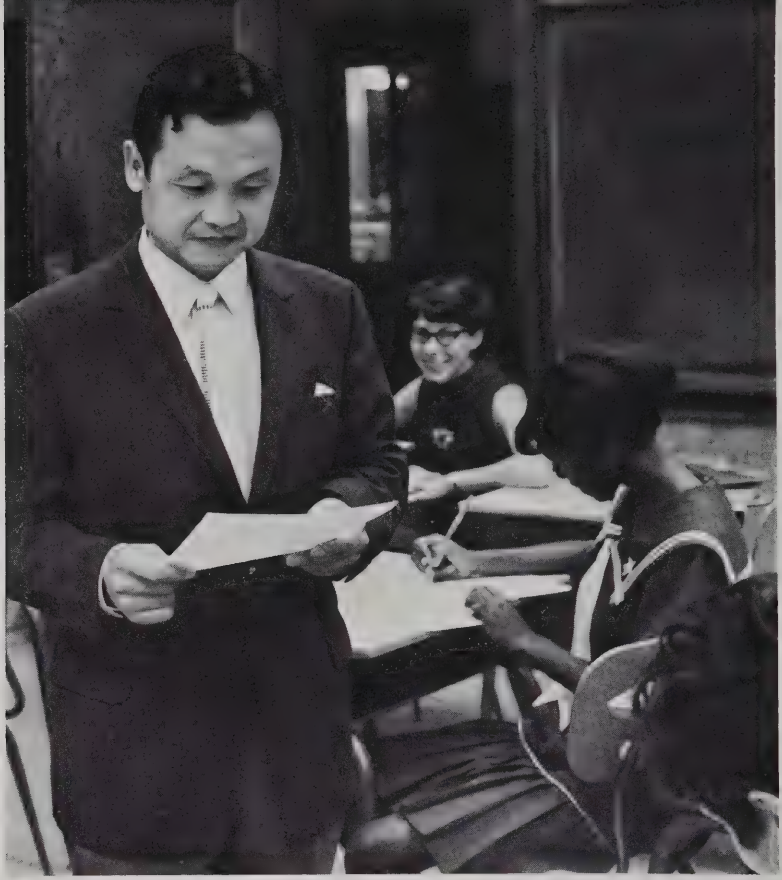
MRS. JAY WALTER, Secretary.

The Offices Were Alive With Activity

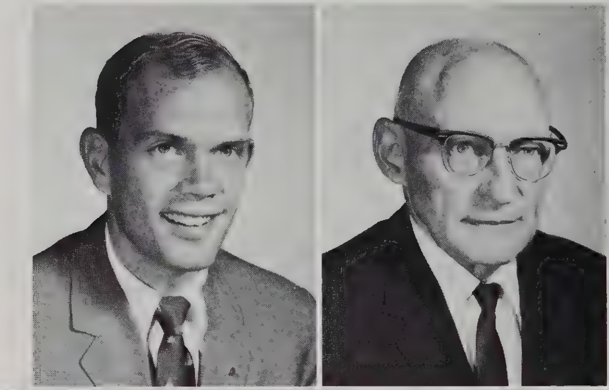
Besides performing their regular duties, the secretarial staff aided immensely in keeping clear of overwhelming paperwork. Mrs. Garber compiled the absentee sheets, determined the teachers' payroll, and prepared the IBM attendance sheets for the downtown office. Mrs. Walters handled all the bookkeeping.

In the records department, Mrs. Swift's main duties consisted of calculating the students' class rank and sending transcripts to colleges. Mrs. Ford in the counselors' office typed students' records, prepared the College Night Directory, gathered the information for the IBM attendance sheets, and checked out college catalogs and occupational files to students.

Mr. Heyward checks students' names and homerooms.



Mr. Takeshi Shinozaki reads a letter from a TeeJay English class written to his Japanese students in a letter-exchange program he initiated.



ROBERT ELLIOTT BAYLISS, English, Co-Sponsor Key Club, Tennis Coach.

G. REY BENNETT, English, Manager of Textbooks.

MISS ALMA V. LOWANCE, English, Head of English Department, Sponsor Quill and Scroll.

MISS MARGARET RANDOLPH PALMER, English.

MRS. O. H. PARRISH, JR., English, Sponsor Cheerleaders.

MISS SUSAN B. PORTER, English.

MISS ANNE K. SHERWIN, English, Sponsor The Monticello Literary Staff.

MRS. JOANNE SAVAGE VARNADORE, English.

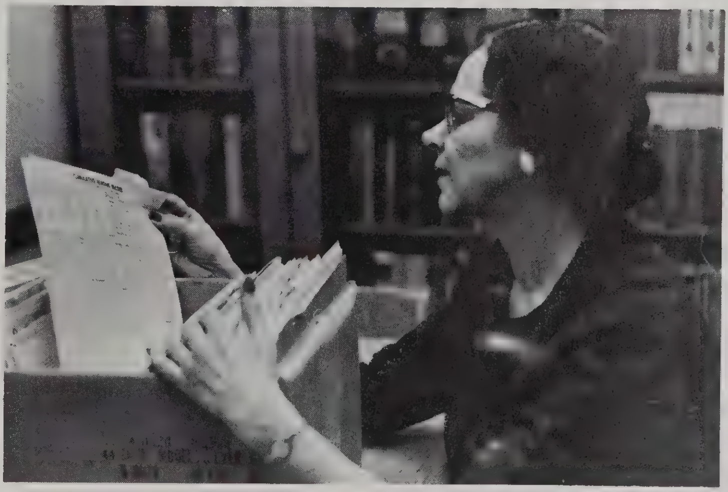
MRS. SHIRLEY DUNKLEY WHETSTONE, English, Sponsor Senior Class.

Mr. Shinozaki Added Japanese Flavor to TeeJay

The English teachers worked this year to set up standards of accomplishment. Their goal was to list the skills required of each student before allowing him to progress to the next grade level.

To broaden the scope of the English Department, humanities was introduced into the tenth grade, and linguistics, in the ninth and eleventh grades.

The PAVE Program gave students an opportunity to see professional performances in the areas of drama, dance, music, and pantomime. Tony Montanaro headed the list of famous performers heard throughout the year.



One of Miss Lowance's many duties is the filing of book cards.

MISS MARY ELIZABETH BEAMAN, French, Spanish, Head of Language Department.

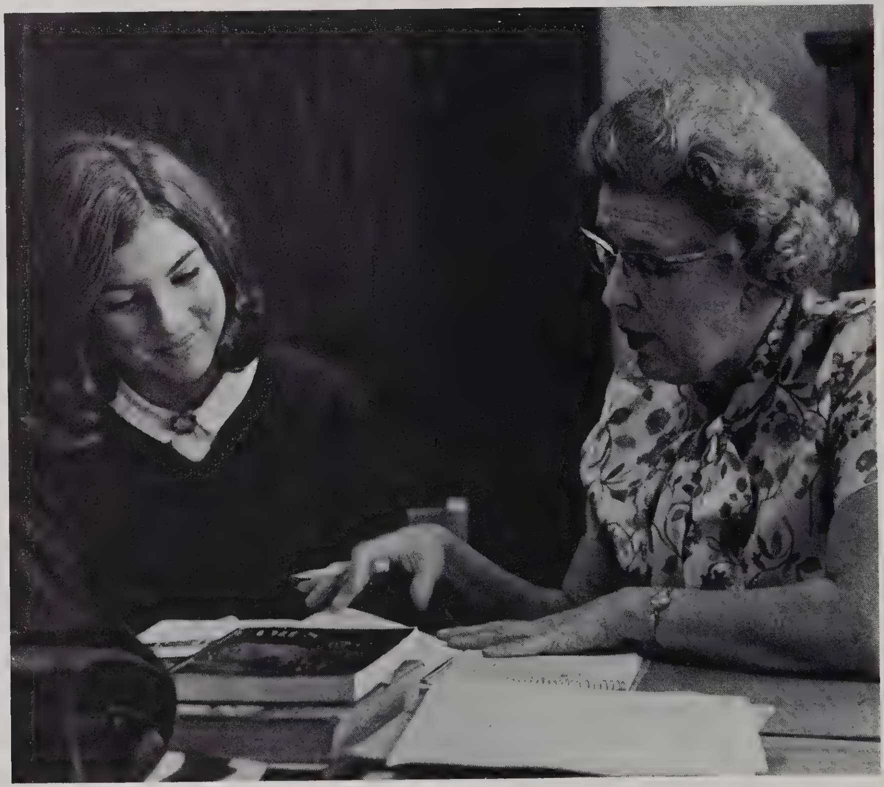
MISS NANCY BUFFALOE, English, German, Sponsor German Club, Co-Sponsor Talent Guild.

MISS PATRICIA C. CALLIS, Spanish.

C. WAYNE COPENHAVER, Russian, Sponsor Russian Club.

MISS JOYCE DRINKWATER, French.

MRS. KATHARINE WALTON FONTAINE, French, Latin, Sponsor Latin Club.



Miss Beaman explains a facet of modern literature to Gloria Wood.

Melvin Ely watches Debbie Freund's French cookery with a scowling, skeptical look.

Fun French Talks Revealed Impish Matchmakers

Susan Cohen and Jack Shapiro ponder Miss Ramey's future with a Ouija Board.

As the trend toward oral teaching methods in foreign languages grew stronger, the Thomas Jefferson Language Department made several changes in this vein. This year greater use was made of the language lab and of tape recorders and special audio-visual aids in the classroom. To supplement these newest teaching methods, the students received new books.

New teachers also brought fresh ideas. The six additions to our language department faculty brought ideas from many different areas—Illinois, West Virginia, and Athens, Greece, to mention a few. Mrs. Fontaine, a former TeeJay teacher, came armed with new-found knowledge from a course in linguistics teaching methods at the University of Richmond.

Two of our returning faculty members, Miss Ramey and Miss Buffaloe, brought new ideas gained through summer graduate work. Many beneficial influences graced the department.

MRS. VIRGINIA C. HOLDEN, French, Sponsor French Club and French National Honor Society.

MISS MARY C. MORRIS, Spanish, Sponsor Spanish Club and Spanish National Honor Society.

MISS BETSY RAMEY, French, Sponsor Honor Council, Keyettes, Coach High School Bowl Team.

JAMES EDWARD WALLACE, History.

Television Programs Added Interest to U.S. History

The History Department again used lectures on art and art objects to add cultural interest to both its World History and U.S. History courses. In addition, a television program entitled "Americans from Africa; A History" was incorporated into the U.S. History course. Next year this material will become a regular part of the curriculum.

MRS. JOSEPHINE C. BAKER, Mathematics, Sponsor National Honor Society.

MRS. ARLENE S. BAKNER, Mathematics.

MISS SUE M. BEAMAN, Mathematics, Sponsor Future Teachers of America.

MRS. EDNA A. DAVIS, Mathematics.

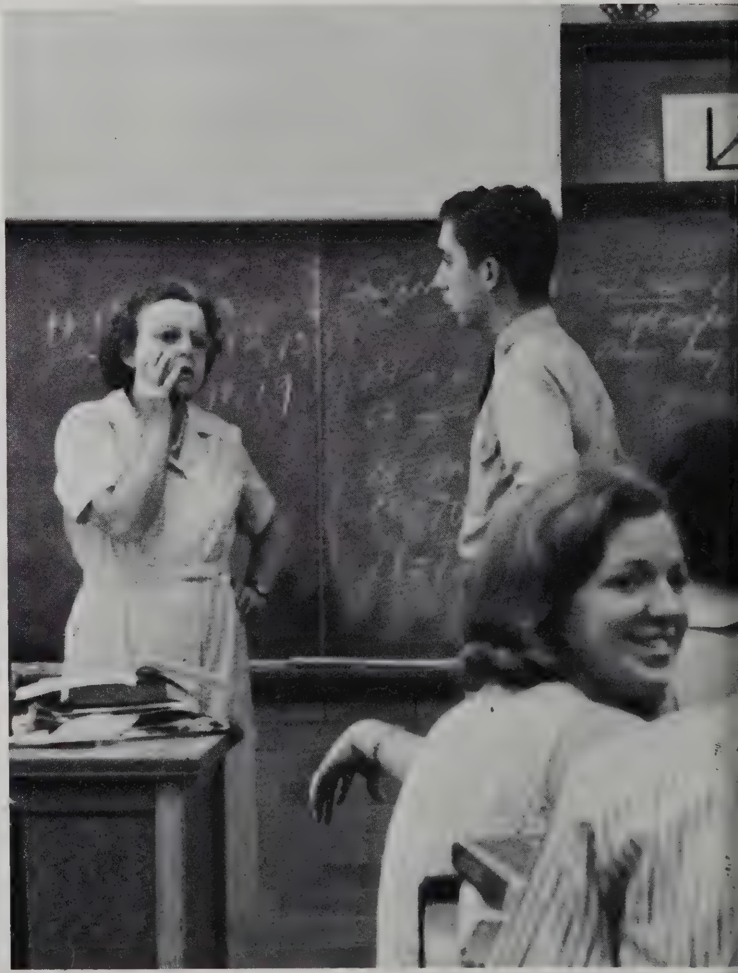
MISS FRANCES GIVENS, Mathematics.

THOMAS O. HUBER, Mathematics, Sponsor Hi-Y III, Math Club.

Slide Rule Proved Helpful in Further Studies

Efficiently directed by the Department Head, Mrs. Ida Wanderer, the Math Department coped with increasingly large mathematics classes and programs at the Math-Science Center. Among the Seniors, the Trig-Analysis classes were larger than in any other year. These classes were taught to Seniors having completed Algebra II. Another growing class was the slide rule class. Students were taught the names and applications of the slide rule scales, and this training helped in physics and chemistry classes. The compact Calculus class prepared especially for the Advance Placement Examination in May.

At the Math-Science Center, programs were held each Saturday for special Juniors and Seniors who attended Honor Seminars. They heard lectures from distinguished mathematicians and scientists from Virginia and nearby states.



Lynn Wingfield stumps Miss Givens with a question in her senior College-Algebra and Trig. class.

JAMES G. HOLDREN, Chemistry, Track, Cross Country Coach.

MRS. SALLY REYNOLDS LINTHICUM, Biology, Sponsor Biology Lab Assistants.

Biology classes toil to conquer the intricacies of the microscope.

Success of Science Projects Commended the Department

Buried under a voluminous pile of paper, Mr. Uram, head of the Science Department, put into effect many new ideas and projects. The school sent students both to the University of Virginia science symposium and to the Virginia Junior Academy of Science. AP Chemistry was improved and plans for the future included three semesters of AP Chemistry, AP Biology, and AP Physics. Replacement of ninth grade AES-Physics with a physical science course was also under discussion.

This year two new teachers, Mrs. Dart and Mr. Williams, graced the department with their presence. But one thing remained the same for the crew of science teachers—receiving lab supplies and filling out thousands of orders.

Vernon Williams attempts to prove the Dulong and Petit law while Mr. Holdren scrutinizes his procedure.

MISS LYNDELLE ATKISSON PITT, Earth Science, Biology, Sponsor Wise Owl Club.

JOSEPH C. URAM, Physics.

DAVID D. WILLIAMS, Physics, Earth Science, Wrestling Coach.

J. REX BRITTON, Instrumental Music.

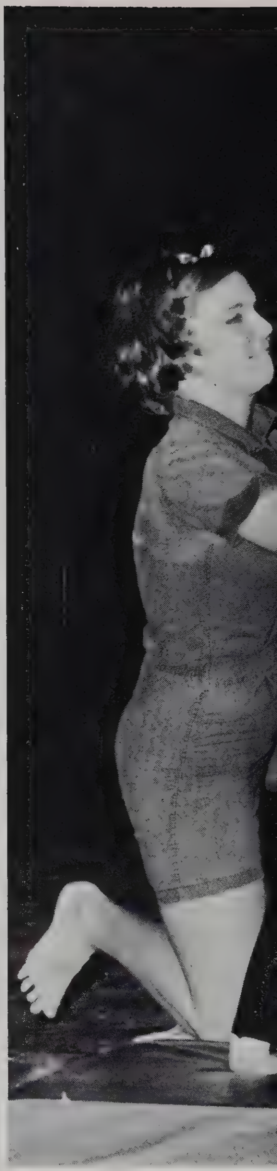
MRS. OLIVE L. HARRIS, Art.

MISS DORIS E. SUTTON, Art.

MISS KATHLEEN V. TURNER, Art, Sponsor Art Club.



The Spirited Art and Music Departments Staged Programs

A newcomer to TeeJay and also the new Art Department Head, Miss Turner found her classes to be very well organized. She planned to repeat last year's hall display and the annual Spring Art Exhibition in the gym.

Also a new face to TeeJay students, Mr. Rex Britton put his ideas for a concert band into use. The concert band, orchestra, and cadet band joined forces to perform in the Spring concert.

Miss Davis and the A Cappella Choir were honored as members of the All City Choir. Plans were made for a humanities assembly.

Miss Davis enthusiastically pounds the piano to set the musical key for her voice students.

Gymnasts' Talents Developed Flexibility for Girl Athletes

The addition of several new coaches marked the beginning of the 1968-69 school year for the Thomas Jefferson Athletic Department. Mr. Williams took over wrestling; Mr. McGinty took over tennis; and Mr. Allerdice was added to the football coaching staff.

The physical education classes were kept very busy. Mr. Bloxsom and Mr. Carmack used more tennis and combo-ball, a conglomeration of soccer and basketball, and both proved to keep the boys in excellent shape. A new gymnastics class, instructed by Miss James, was added to the girls' regular program, and both Miss James and Miss Todd had a full schedule.

Drivers' education classes were once again packed with enthusiastic students.

Martha Straus attempts a precarious "walkover," spotted by Connie Wilbourne and Jan Thompson.

W. E. BLOXSOM, Physical Education, Varsity Baseball and Basketball Coach.

SHELBURN CARMACK, Physical Education, Driver's Education, Junior Varsity Baseball and Basketball Coach.

MISS SUSAN WALKE JAMES, Physical Education, Basketball and Tennis Coach, Sponsor Tebahoes.

MISS EDITH V. TODD, Physical Education, Hockey Coach.

MRS. ISEBELLE P. BURDEN, Bookkeeping, General Business, Typing, Head of Business Department.

MRS. ROBIN H. EDDY, Distributive Education, Co-Sponsor D.E. Club.

MISS ANN ELIZABETH FIELD, Office Practice, Shorthand, Typewriting.

MRS. LEWIS P. HUDSON, Typewriting, Shorthand.

MRS. WANDA P. McDANIEL, Typewriting, Vocational Office Training Coordinator, Sponsor Future Business Leaders of America.

MRS. NEDA B. TUCKER, Business, Sponsor The Monticello Business Staff.

BOB D. WILLIS, Distributive Education, Golf Coach, Co-Sponsor D.E. Club.

Business Program Prospered With Many New Features

The primary concern of the Business Department was the preparation of youth for occupations in the business world. Typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping were the main subjects taught, and the key-punch machine was emphasized in the field of processing.

Additions to the Business Department included a new club, The Future Business Leaders of America, and many plans for new physical facilities were discussed. New faculty included Mrs. Eddy in Distributive Education and Mrs. McDaniel in the Vocational Office Training program.

Learning to work the keypunch is an important part of the business curriculum.

All Teachers Were Essential to School Coordination

These additional staff members gave to TeeJay a well-balanced curriculum. Because of them, the efficiency of the teaching-learning process was greatly increased.

The beautiful new library presented many difficult but enjoyable challenges to Miss Carter and Miss Savage. Arranging the new facilities for most effective use was the chief object of their efforts.

For lunch, there was barbecue; for the camera, ham.

MRS. FRANCES T. APPLER, Home Economics, Sponsor Future Homemakers of America.

MRS. LOTTIE B. CALLIS, Study Hall Proctor.

MISS CLYDE G. CARTER, Librarian, Co-Sponsor Library Staff, Library Committee.

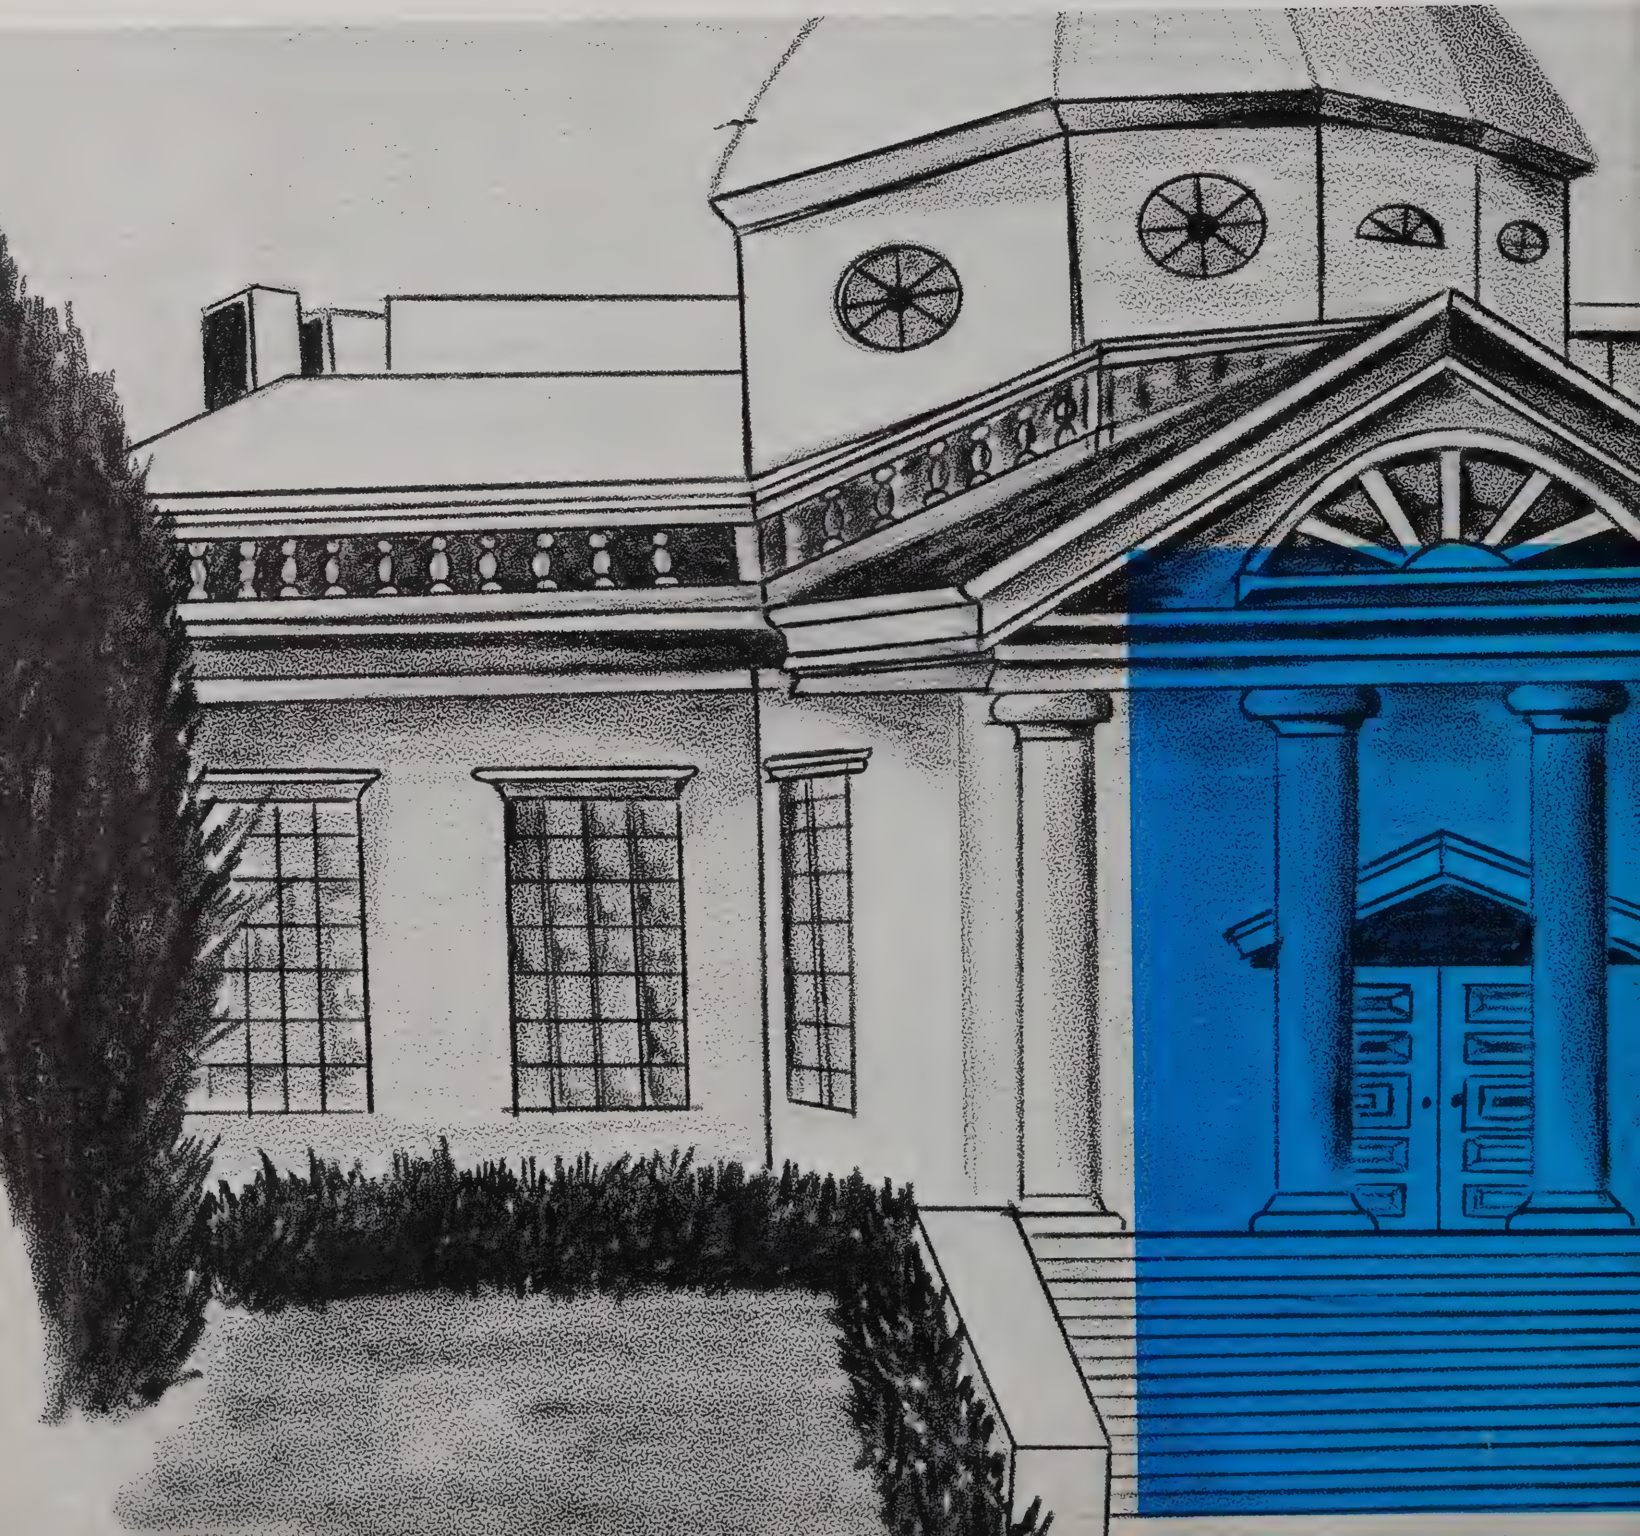
MRS. MARGARET COMLEY, Sight Saving.

MISS AUDREY LAMB, Nurse.

MISS MARTHA L. SAVAGE, Librarian, Co-Sponsor Library Staff, Library Committee.

MRS. MARIE H. SIBLEY, Cafeteria Manager.

CLASSES



School begins and ends with students. Classes are the pillars—integral support for our building.

CLASS OF '69

OFFICERS: Michael Vranian, President; Langdon Moss, Treasurer; Lewis Held, Vice-President; Lydia Poland, Secretary.

"Amparo, you must watch out for these TeeJay boys!" busily instructs Mrs. Whetstone.

Seniors Gave Promise of Future Political Interest

1968-1969 was the year of campaign buttons, debates, daisies, the election and inauguration of a new President. The Class of '69 was active both in politics and in TeeJay happenings. "Candyland," the Senior-Junior, was well-attended; the class play uncovered much hidden talent; and the year ended with the boisterous Senior Class Picnic.

People were also very important this year. We welcomed Amparo Cannon, our AFS student, with open arms and helped her celebrate her eighteenth birthday. Our sincere thanks were extended to Mrs. Whetstone for her four years of patience and industry in helping us plan and effect our projects.

Up-to-date Sponsor Adds Verve To Effervescent Sophomores

The Sophomore Class activities this year were "really out of sight!" The monotonous stretch from exams to Easter vacation was happily broken by the Class Dance in March. Continuing an innovation from the previous year, a "Miss Sophomore Class" contest was staged and presented a fabulous opportunity for the Sophomore boys to meet the girls.

With a healthy profit incentive, the Sophomore Class capitalized on the Jr.-Sr. Dance by selling refreshments. Adding animation to all the projects was the class sponsor, Mr. Jones, one of the "swingingest" teachers at TeeJay.

Freshmen Earned Right to Sing "Jeffersonian"

The first problem presented to the fledgling Jeffs was the selection of a sponsor. The Freshmen chose a sponsor who was as new as they were, but Miss Woodell adapted herself quickly. Under the direction of the SP Treasurer, Webb Tyler, class elections were held in January. The officers immediately began plans for their class picnic in the spring.

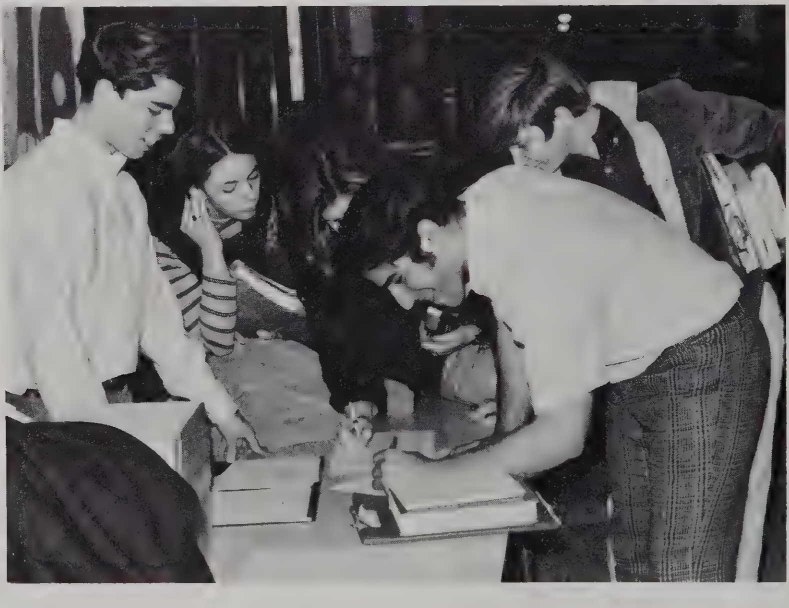
ACTIVITIES

The classes pour enthusiasm into the supplementary interests. As a wing, activities complement the solid front of classes.

Waiting and ready to go, secretaries, treasurers, senators, all, await the word from SP President Bobby Rolfe.

As Bobby Rolfe gives an introductory speech. Ben Satterfield ponders his challenge to the student body to support a school in Africa.



Henry Liscio presides as Frank Sanyour "signs on the dotted line."

Ambitious Senate Challenged Several New Ideas

With Mr. Wallace performing as a shady preacher, Lyn Hardwicke and Ed Childress are "wed."

As a move to better the Senate as a whole a re-evaluation of the various committees was undertaken. For the Sadie Hawkins Dance, there was a Marrying Sam Booth where "marriages" were performed. Also at this dance there was a drawing for king and queen.

Brought up for discussion was the possibility of substituting sponsorship of a school in Africa for the A.F.S. Student. Also considered was the issuing of I.D. cards to each of the students.

House Was Link Between Students and the S.P.

The House of Representatives rose to the task of solving problems of great weight and those of trivia this year. As always, at their bi-monthly meetings the representatives' purpose was twofold: they brought up homeroom suggestions and acted as communications links between students and the S. P.

Old and new committees were in evidence this year. The Smoking and Senior Privileges Committees met regularly to continue their investigations. The newly-formed Store Committee laid the groundwork for a student operated store that would sell school supplies and club paraphernalia. Other actions were visible also. The House sponsored the door decoration contest and the Thanksgiving baskets.

The choir sings joyously at Thanksgiving amidst the gaily decorated homeroom baskets of canned goods.

Members of the House meet to discuss problems and suggestions discovered in their homerooms.

Capable Leadership Brought Many Successful Projects

To support the Christmas Mother Drive, the Character Committee sponsored large, iron kettles judiciously situated in the three halls. Their week-long drive was successful due to the many contributions from the students and faculty. Their joint project of promoting Brotherhood Week with the Senate also helped to promote respect and admiration for TeeJay and her students.

Allen Spurlock's contribution to the Character Committee's kettle results from the lure of the bells, bells . . .

Armed with well-organized notes, Melvin Ely looks for response from the passive group.

Honor Council Expanded to Junior High School

Under the direction of Mary Lynn White, the Honor Council sponsored Honor Week and started an Honor Council at Westhampton Junior High School. The Council held homeroom orientations for freshmen and sophomores and presented a special question-and-answer assembly. Its main purposes were to promote and enforce the Honor Code by trying Honor Council violations.

Members Outlined a Dignified Program for NHS Induction

The National Honor Society again offered the service of tutoring to TeeJay students. Each morning, two members supervised a study session to aid students in courses ranging from elementary to advanced college courses. Old members John Ambrose, Penny Duvall, Deborah Greenberg, Lewis Held, Chris Howard, Robert Rolfe, Catherine Stone, and Michael Vranian tapped inductees in the spring. New Senior members were Lucy Baker, Paula Bass, Carol Breit, Carol Davenport, Paul Day, Nancy Evans, Gayle Fary, Jamie Ford, Catherine Francioni, Suzanne Freed, David Gambill, Janet Glick, Roxanne Grossman, Allen Levy, Myrna Mandlawitz, Neil Martin, John Myers, Carl Outen, Leland Payton, Rachel Regelson, Mildred Ringler, John Roberts, Stephanie Roberts, Sally Roffman, Lindsay Ryland, Jack Schreiber, Waylan Tucker, Peter Ulbrich, Martha Vetter, Mary Sue Warren, Warner Watkins, Anner Whitehead, John Whitmore, Mark Whitten, and Bo Hai Woo. Juniors inducted were Patricia Barry, Melvin Ely, Douglas Frank, Deborah Freund, Lloyd Held, Charles Herzog, Lydia Kleiner, Elizabeth Lawrence, Frances McMullan, Sallie Martin, Sydney Milkin, Erica Raphael, David Rosenberg, Frances Shevitz, and Jessica Tropp.

Carol Hench presents desired plans for discussion and approval by club presidents.

Coordination of Activities Stressed Club Affiliations

Consisting of club and service organization presidents, the Club Affiliations served as a link between the club and the Senate. Meeting once a week, this group of dedicated students voted on the business of the various organizations and generally served to screen club programming.

Seated: Mark Whitten, Bo Hai Woo, Brenda Brock, Cathy Stone. Standing: Miss Lowance (sponsor), Alice Winn, Lindsay Ryland.

Youthful Journalists Gained Honor in May Induction

Quill and Scroll marked a great honor for high school journalists, being a national honorary society. Only students from the yearbook, newspaper, and magazine staffs were considered, and the aspirants had to meet qualifications of academic achievement, recommendation by the sponsor, and contributions or dedication to journalism. Each member was approved by the International Secretary at the University of Iowa.

At TeeJay, the Ellen Glasgow Chapter inducted new members in spring in a dignified candlelighting ceremony. The distinction of being a member helped especially those students who planned to continue in journalism in college.

RUSH
DATED MERCHANDISE

Susie Kersey, Betsy Blanchard, Neldyne Johnson, and Janet Inge prepare the newly arrived Monticello's for distribution.

Excruciating Hours Were Typical of Frantic Staff

Intending to give a short history in pictures of a school year filled with achievement, the yearbook staff put time and effort into choosing representative pictures and writing amusing captions. Being a member of the staff meant fun, yet definite responsibility. For each deadline, certain groups of pages had to be completed and sent in with a minimum of errors. That afternoon, the rush and last minute captions by typists furiously pounding the keys and headlines by the prolific staff madly figuring the long columns brought groans of disbelief of ever finishing.

On the other hand, supplying the financial backing of The Monticello was the Business Staff, who began work last summer selling ad space to local businesses. They planned the yearbook drive, prepared the ad layout, sent bills, and distributed the annuals. To celebrate the completed book, the Business and Literary Staffs joined in their annual banquet.

Curtis Parker, Debbie West, and Janet Plotkin find even bookkeeping amusing.

"Selling yearbooks is fun!" laughs Janet Inge to teasers Curtis Parker and Charlotte Thompson.

A distracted Miss Sherwin gazes wearily as a person claims her attention from George Turman and the "battle of inches."

The day is rare when Jack Shapiro, Richard Vaden, George Turman and Bo Hai Woo can simultaneously be found working.

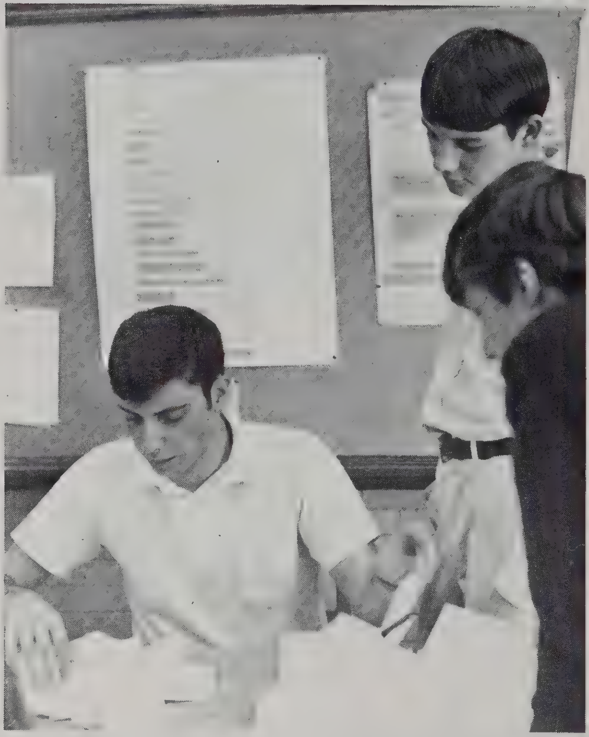
An intent Charles Herzog focuses on Jack Shapiro before photographing a close-up of the human eye.

As Bo Hai Woo develops the theme presented in the division pages, Penny Duvall crops various pictures vigorously.

Over a hum-drum filing job, Megan Mabey dreamily contemplates a new dress, a new hair-do, maybe even a new date!

THOMAS JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL Jeffersonian

Seated: Anne Ellwanger, Ricky Pleasants, Phyllis Kupfer. Standing: Mark "Virginius" Whitten, Sandra Higgins, Sheila Carapico, John Christian.



Mock election returns—"Nixon's the One!"

The Jeffersonian nobly upheld its traditions again this year. It accomplished its goals and even more. It succeeded in building school spirit, adding to T.J.'s public image through coverage of worthwhile organizations, acting as a link between S.P. and the student body, recording and encouraging achievement in sports, social events, and scholarship, and bringing readers an accurate picture of life at T.J. The Jeffersonian also, as usual, catalyzed students into action through biting editorials.

The ad and circulation staffs performed their usual roles. Amid the tumult and clackety-clack of typewriters, the ad staff secured and drew-up ads and checked Jeffersonian copy. The circulation staff secured subscriptions from the school. It also folded and distributed papers. Few students can forget the Jeffersonian lieutenant's cry of "Buy the Jeffersonian!" echoing through the hallowed halls of T.J.

Seated: John Young, Susan Liniado, Roxie Grossman. Standing: Alan Bullington, Michael Dale, Suzanne Freed, Janice Benenson, Patty Bersch.

Standing: Mrs. Howell, Sylvia Zelkin, Sallie Kirtland. Seated: Kay Sheer, Ricki Grunwald.

Linda Davis, Dianne Moore, Betsy Pleasants, and Ann Carr fold an issue for distribution.

Marilyn Zell, Charlie Payne, Lindsay Ryland, Stephanie Hughes, Rita Bates, and Sydney Milkin seal papers for mailing.

Ricky Linas, Lydia Poland, Jessica Troop and Peter Ulbrich examine artwork to be submitted to The Declaration.

Paintings at a nearby gallery are carefully analyzed by Beth Howell and Marvin Daniel.

Creative Flair Characterized Staff's Talents

The Declaration is Thomas Jefferson High School's student literary-art magazine. It was compiled by a group of volunteers and contained the work of the student body. The Declaration staff endeavored to present a magazine that would be interesting to the entire student body and would be representative of their thoughts and concerns. An award-winning magazine, The Declaration was distinguished by being the only one of TeeJay's three publications which included work from each class and therefore had something of interest to each student.

Marty Vetter, Donna Rice, Paula Bass and Rachel Regelson gather new ideas at the library for the magazine.

Typists Brenda Brock and Cathy Connell receive help and encouragement from John Ambrose and Debbie Greenberg.

Key Club Members Served School and Community

Key Club International's goals were to develop initiative and leadership, thus serving the school and community. TeeJay's Key Club, sponsored by the Richmond Kiwanis Club, fulfilled their objectives and maintained a high standing in the Capital District.

This year the club's activities continued the "little buddy" program as well as support for the athletic teams and charities with contributions. They also sponsored Key Club Week and the annual Homecoming Dance, in addition to adopting a Christmas family.

Hi-Y II's Enthusiastic Support Boosted TeeJay Athletic Teams

Hi-Y II combined service to school and community. They set up wrestling mats for home matches and cleaned the gym floor for home basketball games. Work days and Richmond Area TB Center service fulfilled community commitments.

Hi-Y III's Projects Supported Both School and Community

Hi-Y III continued its projects with the Cooperative Training Center where the boys chummed with their "Li'l Buddies." At Halloween, the children frolicked at Betty Whitehead's home. At Christmas, members stuffed Christmas stockings with candy and toys, anticipating an avalanche of childish pleasure.

In April, the club had its dance which was one of TeeJay's memorable highlights. It also had outings with the children from the Methodist Home and gave a trophy to the "Most Improved Wrestler" and a $100 scholarship to a deserving senior.

For the first time, the annual Hi-Y Eastern District Conference was held at TeeJay. Spencer Hales from Hi-Y III and Charlie Payne from Hi-Y II were co-hosts.

Keyettes Figuratively Perked Social Life to a Boiling Peak

Organized at the end of the 1967-1968 school year, the Keyette Club became active in school and community affairs. The teachers found ready helpers in Keyettes who helped file, alphabetize, and straighten out paperwork. They sewed up jerseys for the football team, sponsored a school mailbox for Christmas cards, and helped usher at many school functions. In February a faculty auction was held in which articles or services provided by the faculty were sold to the student body. The Keyettes adopted Little Sisters from St. Joseph's Villa and entertained them often.

After a rollicking Halloween night, hob-goblins, hobos, and Keyettes gather around a beaming Jack O'Lantern.

Y-Teens Built Character Through Christian Service

With an increased membership and Miss Palmer as their new sponsor, TeeJay's Y-Teens was an extremely enthusiastic club this year. Their goal, character building through Christian fellowship, was fulfilled through many projects. Some of these included adopting a grandmother and needy family, working at hospitals and nursing homes, and sending candy and gifts to Vietnam soldiers. As they have done previously, Y-Teens sold drinks and checked coats at the Sadie Hawkins Dance and sang on the Capitol steps for the annual Candlelight Service. A new addition was a sweetheart chosen by the girls themselves.

Mr. Britton Added Zest to the Orchestra

With a new director, Mr. Rex Britton, the orchestra continued to provide the instrumental music for many activities around school. In addition to the annual concert and assembly in the spring, the orchestra assisted at the Christmas and Awards assemblies, the operetta, the National Honor Society tapping, Baccalaureate, and graduation exercises.

Selected string players journeyed to Roanoke to represent TeeJay in the All-State String Orchestra. A highlight of the year was a performance of Vivaldi's "Gloria" at St. Giles Presbyterian Church. Members of the orchestra also participated in the Richmond Symphony Youth Orchestra.

TeeJay musicians are intent on their music as Mr. Britton strikes a familiar pose.

TeeJay Choir Hosted New All-City Chorus

This year the A Cappella Chorus, directed by Miss Betty Davis, gave many well-received concerts. In addition to the Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies, the choir performed at Binford, Hill, and Westhampton junior high schools.

Some members of the chorus participated in the new All-City Choir and also in All-Regional Choir and All-Virginia Chorus.

"Guys and Dolls," this year's operetta, was performed under the direction of Mrs. Betty Grigg, speech and dramatics teacher, before an appreciative audience.

WITH TALENT
The Talent Guild

Waving hands, kicking feet, and smiling faces reveal club members' vitality.

Newly-Formed Talent Guild Had Vigorous Year

Sparked by a group of enthusiastic students, the newly-formed Talent Guild actively plunged into its first full year by holding early membership try-outs. Throughout the year the members with their widely-varied talents performed Talent Benefits for the homes of the aged and McGuire Hospital patients. They concluded their successful year with a spring assembly.

Stage Crew Overcame Difficulty Presented by Stage Renovation

A new sound system and a newly-renovated auditorium were the challenges to this year's Stage Crew. Without any compensation or recognition for their efforts, they continued to do their best in school productions and assemblies.

Thespian Society Ascended to Stated Goals after Infancy

The Thespian Society handily survived as a new club at TeeJay. The officers faced the detailed task of outlining their purposes and goals in a constitution. The Society traveled to nearby theaters to see plays and competed in a competition of one-act plays with other schools. The Thespian Society gave promise of bigger and better things to come.

French Club Float Added Zest To Homecoming Game Parade

The French Club, also known as Le Cercle Francais, added a taste of France to Homecoming, and its can-can dancer won third place in the float contest. At Christmas its members visited a local nursing home. City-wide French Day was celebrated in March with the tapping of new members into the French National Honor Society.

French Club members have informal discussions before deciding on future plans.

Efficacious Ceremony in Spring Chose Distinguished Students

Because of the increasing communication between modern nations, fluency was a requisite for many language students. For their exceptional ability and command of the French tongue, new members were inducted in a spring ceremony. It was an honor for students professing a keen interest in France's history and culture.

Creative Latin Club Showed Old Rome's Energy, Indolence

In a festive mood, the Latin Club at Christmas made amusing cards to greet the teachers. In spring, it began its future planning with posters and the sponsoring of morning devotions. With an eye toward incoming freshmen and sophomores, they visited local junior high schools.

German Club Exuberantly Supported Our Soccer Team

The German Club planned several interesting activities this year. They sponsored a float at Homecoming. As they did last year, the German Club continued to support the soccer team. They also took a trip to Washington, D.C. to visit the German Embassy. Throughout the year they had various people speaking on Germany and German customs to address the club. All in all, it was a good year for "die Deutsche Sprecher."

Amparo's Fluent Spanish Was Envy of Fellow Club Members

Sparked by enthusiastic interest and AFS student Amparo Cannon, the Spanish Club enjoyed a very active year. A welcome party for Amparo started the activities rolling, and a Spanish Club float climaxed enthusiasm at the Homecoming game.

The Spanish Club planned a joint language week with all the language clubs at TeeJay to replace Spanish Week; also, a big banquet was held for language advancement.

Amparo Cannon and Cathy Connell smilingly await a flux of guests who come for the dainty refreshments.

Twenty-Three Spanish Students Merited Honor

The Thomas Jefferson Chapter of the Spanish National Honor Society is called the Blasco Ibanez Chapter. This year twenty-three members were inducted at a ceremony held on February 19. The guest speaker was Mr. William Cudlepp, III, a Spanish professor at the University of Richmond.

Qualifications for membership included an overall "B" average with at least one or two "A" averages for the semester in Spanish.

New Methods of Education Inspired Future Teachers

With activity and leadership as their goals, the Future Teachers of America sponsored multifold programs. Among these were their annual turtle race, a car wash, and a tea for new faculty members. Speakers included Miss Peggy Thompson, who spoke on campus life at Longwood College, and Miss Green, one of TeeJay's new teachers, who spoke about the F.T.A. at her high school.

Math Club Directed Activities With Exactitude and Precision

The Math Club reached new horizons of interest in mathematics this year under the direction of Mr. Thomas Huber. Its members listened to speakers on topics such as probability and varying statistics. Also field trips to places of mathematical interest were undertaken, such as the one to the Computer Center at MCV. Active participation characterized the Math Club this year.

Numerous field trips, interspersed with interesting lectures, made the Science Club a very worthwhile activity. Highlights were a meteor-shower observation and the annual Va. Junior Academy of Science Convention. Miss Geoghegan, Mr. Uram, and Mr. Williams provided faculty participation. All members got something out of the Science Club, especially Mr. Williams, i.e. a box of cookies.

Biology Lab Assistants Pithed Frogs, Prepared Solutions

In front of a row of 200 petri dishes sat the Biology Lab Assistants—diligently cleaning. The duties of the Biology Lab Assistants were the same as last year. Basically, they cleaned dishes, kept the stock room in order, and graded papers. Also, all biological solutions such as agar were prepared by them. But their most enjoyable task was preparing animals in formaldehyde. Sometimes they even got the honor of pithing an occasional frog.

Chemistry Lab Assistants Replaced Broken Equipment

As aides to the Chemistry teachers, students of a reliable character were selected as Chemistry Lab Assistants. Working during their study period, they performed such tasks as replacing broken equipment, locking and unlocking students' desks, and checking instructors' boxes in the office. They also looked after the lab and stock room during a teacher's absence.

Medical Arts Club Won Float Contest During Active Year

Greatly expanding this year, the Medical Arts Club accepted a state charter to become a member of the state-wide organization and participated in the Junior Board of the Richmond TB Association. The club also initiated an interclub association with area high schools, which consisted of programs to arouse interest in medical careers. Other activities included a first aid course presented by the West End Rescue Squad and trips to area dental and nursing schools.

Around the school, the club won first prize in the Homecoming Float Contest and contributed to the Declaration.

High School Bowl Team Out-Brained Freeman

The High School Bowl Team beat Freeman by a score of 340 to 140. The oral and written tests found well rounded and trivia-oriented people with quick recall; they also played against the Nut Squad to keep their recall sharp. Coach Ramey said her job was "trying, but fun."

Super-active Pep Club Was Backbone of T.J.'s Spirit

With an increased membership of 175, the Pep Club was the backbone of the new-found school spirit at TeeJay. New activities included a Spirit Week, a "Red and White" contest, and serving oranges to minor sports teams. For the homecoming game a "Charlie Blue" skit was performed using the "Peanuts" characters. To raise funds, pep-clubbers invented numerous projects. A backfield bonfire highlighted the year.

Tebahoes Strove to Encourage Equal Interest in Girls' Sports

Stimulating interest in girls' athletics was the main purpose of the Tebahoes. The members were active girls who had earned varsity letters. To raise money for paying officials and buying equipment, the girls sponsored Teacher-Tebahoe hockey, basketball and volleyball games. These annual contests were anticipated and supported by the students and faculty.

Tournaments Kept Debaters In Great College Circulation

This year Mr. Tyler added to TeeJay's activities by serving as the Debating Society's sponsor. With his guidance, the Society participated in many meets in the area. Two teams from TeeJay were sent to the District Tournament which was held at the University of Richmond. Our debaters were also invited to the Forensic Tournament at Longwood and to a debate at Chapel Hill. The "draft" was a favorite, controversial topic among teenagers.

V.O.T. Students Strengthened Confidence and Ability

While learning of office procedures during morning class periods, Vocational Office Training students gained experience working afternoons in the business world. Besides strengthening confidence and ability, V.O.T. aimed at getting junior high students interested in this course through visits and talks to area schools.

Underclassmen were informed of the V.O.T. course by the bulletin board displays made by the V.O.T. students. Other activities included fund-raising projects and winning second place in the homecoming float contest. In the spring of the year, a banquet was held for all V.O.T. students and their employers.

Trips Around Town Brought a Needed Insight and Knowledge

Mrs. Robin Eddy, a new member of the Thomas Jefferson faculty, taught her first senior class in Distributive Education this year. She came to Richmond to gain experience in a big city and to deal with varied businessmen.

The Distributive Education Club had two programs planned for the year. A field trip was taken to Meyer's Meatpacking Company to learn about meat processing. The idea behind the trip was to give the students information about produce and to show them the way to be good consumers. A visit to Abbott, Proctor, and Paine, a local stockbroking firm, gave students a lesson in securities and stable investments. The central thought was to demonstrate how money can earn money.

On their return from a DECA convention, members come home laden with wealth, in this case trophies for their merit.

Forum Club Was Concerned With Current Issues

Pointing a finger at herself, Miss Mary Maddox queries, "What about me?"

The Thomas Jefferson Forum in 1968-69 continued its program of exploring various facets of the modern world. Highlights of the year included a talk and showing of slides by Miss Becky White who was in Czechoslovakia during the early stages of the crisis of the summer of 1968; a discussion by members on the effects of mass media sparked by Marshall McLuhan's record, The Massage is the Media; and attendance by the officers at a lecture by the Chief Counsel of the Narcotics and Drug Administration. Plans went forward for a program concerning Negro History Week and a trip to a place of historic significance.

Military Knew No Bounds In Its Many Endeavors

Travel was a way of life with the Cadet Corps this year. They visited Camp Pickett, the Marine Barracks in Washington, and Quantico, and participated in the Tobacco Bowl Parade and the opening of the Virginia State Fair.

To promote military ideas at TeeJay, the White Berets performed drills at local junior high schools and entered various drill competitions. Music was provided at all home football games by the Cadet Band, which also presented its annual spring concert. The Rifle Team upheld the tradition of competition by firing against local high school and area rifle teams. The Color Guard was also active, giving presentations both at a Veterans' Day assembly and during Patriotism Week.

Gridders Ground Their Way Through Discouraging Season

Plagued by injuries but never lacking in spirit, the TeeJay football team made its way through a long, hard season. After impressive showings in the early games, injuries caught up with the Vikings, and Coach Swelnis had a rough time during the remainder of the games. Although the record was not very encouraging, the team proved that if at full strength, it could match almost any team in the district.

Many sophomores and juniors saw plenty of action; next year promised to be a successful season. Also, this year's team was one of the most spirited groups in TeeJay's history. Coach Swelnis commended the outstanding support from the students and hoped it would continue next year.

Despite Losses, Cagers Gained Coaches' Admiring Respect

Perhaps the cagers did not live up to preseason expectations, but Coach Bloxsom remarked that this year's team was one of the best he had ever coached. The defense was one of the district's best, but rarely did the offense function to its full capability. If not for a weakness in foul shooting, several of the lost games could have easily gone to the Vikings. The ever present lack of self-confidence also proved to be a destructive factor throughout the campaign.

Starting the season as a strong contender, losses due to grades and injuries limited the TeeJay wrestling team to merely an average season. Top grappler on the team was senior Steve Rosner, who finished with a 13-0 record. TeeJay did well in the Regional Tournament, winning two third-places and two fourth-places.

The Jeff Harriers followed an opening season loss to Hermitage with six straight victories and finished with a fine 7-4 dual meet record to continue the winning tradition that has characterized TJ cross country teams since their beginning in 1967. With only three returning lettermen available for service, Lee Payton, Team Captain David Gambill, and Scott Shires, the preseason outlook for the Jeff distance-men looked dim, but the rapid improvement of younger runners, Billy Kuester and Cardie Hannabass, and the unexpected addition of senior Mike Morrell brightened the picture considerably. The highlight of the season was the selection of junior Scott Shires to the All-Regional Cross Country Team for the second consecutive year.

Scott Shires, Junior, makes the All-Regional Team for the second year in a row.

Freshmen, Sophs, Stimulated Jeffs' Rebuilding Program

1969 was a rebuilding year for the Jeff track squad. The defending Capital District and Saint Christopher's Relays Champs suffered heavy losses at graduation, but the turnout of a large group of very talented freshmen and sophomores brightened the picture.

Well Publicized Soccer Team Proved to be Most Successful

Early in the season, the Vikings established themselves as a strong, defensive, quick-scoring team. With an aggressive, unsinkable spirit, the soccer team finished the season with a 7-2-1 record. They received an invitation to the State Tournament and ranked an excellent number two in the Soccer League standings.

Netmen Accepted Challenge To Defend State Championship

The TeeJay tennis team strove for another state championship team this season led by junior Richard McKee, defending state champ, who ranked nineteenth nationally. Seniors Rob Leitch and John Myers had fine seasons also. Junior Andy Ware and sophomore John Leitch were standouts too, with able support from Jim Pinder, Irv Cantor, Bob Goldberg, Jon Manager, Bruce Kirk, Dan Metcalf, Temple Cabell, Steve Biegler, George Salinas, and Steve Evens.

Come see the making of power

Vepco's first commercial atomic power station is now under construction in Surry County, Virginia. In the new Information Center overlooking the site, you will see an excellent slide presentation, fascinating exhibits, and a working model of the reactor. (And from the balcony, you can watch them assemble the real thing.) Open 10 AM to 4 PM Monday through Saturday and 1 PM to 6 PM on Sunday. For tour information call 771-3194 in Richmond.

Acknowledgment

The Business and Literary Staffs required the help of many people to produce the 1969 Monticello. We wish to thank all those who have helped us by posing for pictures. In a more specific way, we express our appreciation to the following:

Our principal, W. W. Brock, Jr., for his unfailing support.
The faculty, for their cooperation with our photographers.
The students, for their willingness to be photographed individually and in groups.
The advertisers, for their support which was integral to our success.
The Taylor representatives, Bud Rose and Danny Defalco, for their technical advice.
Charles Herzog, David Straus, and Bernard Jones for their distinctive pictures.
Dickie McMullan and Liz Lawrence for their assistance in the autumn of the year.
Miss Anne Sherwin and Mrs. Neda Tucker, Literary and Business Advisors, for their patience, guidance, and encouragement.
Mr. John Broadwater, for his professional interest and skill.
To the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation for its permission to take and feature the end-sheet photograph of Monticello.

To the Virginia Chamber of Commerce for its transparency of Monticello.
